Visit Drake Well Museum...

When Colonel Edwin Drake struck oil along the banks of Oil Creek in August 1859, few people in Titusville dreamed that the oil industry that began here would one day grow into a world-wide enterprise. Drake Well Museum tells that story. Oil touches our lives every day in plastics, synthetic fabrics, medicines, gasoline and more! Your students will learn how oil changed the world as they tour Drake Well Museum’s exhibits, see working machinery, shop in the Museum Store, and walk along Oil Creek.

School tours are welcome any time at Drake Well Museum for $3.00 per student admission fee. This fee is included in the cost of the Heritage School Tour packages. For more information, call (814) 827-2799 Ext. 107 or write:

...And Ride the Oil Creek & Titusville Railroad

Railroads played an important role in the success of the American industrial revolution and the settlement of the American West.

Ride the OC&T Railroad over the 1860s line that served the boomtowns of early oil – Boughton, Miller Farm, Shaffer, Plum Dungeon, Pioneer, Tarr Farm, Funkville, Columbia Farm.

Hear the stories and see the sites of these boomtowns which lived and died by the price of oil. Listen to the tales of millionaires and villains, the foolish and the wise, the lucky and the jinxed, as men and women learned to capture “black gold” of the Oil Creek Valley.
